Vol 3.

BETTINA

Bettina is a familiar name to those who spend their time exploring AI RPG worlds and interactive films. She has played heroines, adventurers, and unforgettable temptresses across countless stories, yet even she longs for moments of peace away from the spotlight. Now she is spending her time on a remote tropical beach, far from quests, scripts, and expectations. Here, the sound of the waves replaces the noise of the digital worlds she usually inhabits. Bettina enjoys the sunshine, the warm sand, and the rare freedom of having nothing demanded from her. Yet behind her relaxed smile remains the same confidence that made her a memorable character in so many adventures. Perhaps that is exactly why she is impossible to ignore.

KATJA

Katja serves in the administrative division of a remote military base, where most battles are fought not on the front line but among reports, paperwork, and encrypted messages. Although she spends much of her time in an office, everyone knows she is just as determined under pressure as the soldiers in the field. Her striking green hair makes her impossible to overlook, yet her superiors have long learned that behind the unusual appearance lies exceptional discipline and precision. Katja values order, clear rules, and efficiency in everything she does. Her colleagues both respect and fear her because she never hesitates to speak her mind. Countless stories circulate about her around the base, though nobody knows which ones are true. One thing is certain: when Katja is around, there is never a dull day.

CLAIRE

Claire always says the best part of the day begins in her kitchen. A fresh cup of coffee, soft music, and a few quiet moments before the world starts moving. Sometimes she loses track of time, simply enjoying the warm sunlight pouring through the window. To her, a home is not defined by furniture or walls, but by the little moments when she can truly be herself.

This series is an AI-generated digital pin-up illustration inspired by the classic glamour magazines of the 1950s. Warm colors, painterly rendering, and vintage styling recreate the timeless charm of the golden pin-up era.

NEENA

Neema is one of the most skilled hunters of the Zimba-Nati tribe. For generations, her people have wandered across the endless savannah, following the rains, the great herds, and the ancient paths of their ancestors. They know nothing of distant cities, machines, or modern laws; for them, the land, the sky, and tribal traditions are the whole world. Neema is swift, patient, and exceptionally observant, often chosen to scout unknown territory before the others arrive. The warriors respect her courage, and the elders value her judgment. Despite her young age, many stories are already told about her around the evening fires. To the Zimba-Nati people, Neema is more than a hunter—she is a symbol of freedom and the ancient way of life.
